

Post-Cold War Eastern European Film & Media

Co-Sponsored by Miami University and University of Cincinnati
Miami University, Wilk's Auditorium | May 4, 2018 | 10am-7pm

INVITED LOCAL SPEAKERS

Stanley Corkin, University of Cincinnati
Todd Herzog, University of Cincinnati
Oana Godeanu-Kenworthy, Miami University
Michael Gott, University of Cincinnati
Mariana Ivanova, Miami University
Steve Norris, Miami University

Join us on May 4th, 2018 at Miami University (Oxford campus) for a research symposium co-sponsored by Miami University and the University of Cincinnati. The symposium will feature lectures by local and East European scholars, as well as conversations with film directors and producers from the region, a round table on East European directors in Hollywood during the Cold War, and two public film screenings.

Event is free and open to the public.
A detailed schedule of events is forthcoming.

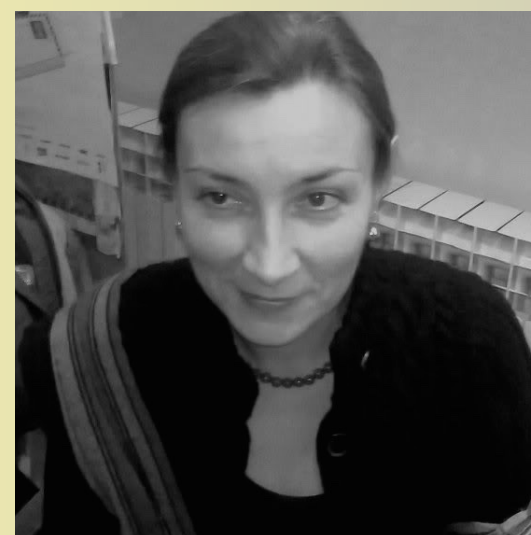

INVITED INTERNATIONAL SPEAKERS

Darko Lungulov, Director of the film Spomenik Majklu Dzeksonu (2014) ["Monument to Michael Jackson" (1:35)] (Serbia)

Ilinca Calugareanu (left), Director of Chuck Norris vs. Communism (2015) (1:18) (Romania); and Mara Adina (right), the Producer of Chuck Norris vs. Communism (2015).

Tatjana Jukić, UC-International Visiting Scholar and Film Professor from the University of Zagreb (Croatia)

SPONSORS

MU College of Arts & Science | UC College of Arts & Sciences | MU Humanities Center | UC Charles Phelps Taft Research Center, University of Cincinnati
Department of Global and Intercultural Studies, Miami University | Department of Media, Journalism and Film, Miami University
Department of German, Russian, and Asian Languages, Miami University | Havighurst Center for Russian and Post-Soviet Studies, Miami University
Urban Humanities, Taft Research Center, University of Cincinnati | UC-International, University of Cincinnati | Center for Film Studies, University of Cincinnati